Monday 11 March 2013

9h00-10h30: Cultural plunder during WWII and its postwar consequences

Instructors: Marc Masurovsky with Willi Korte and Agnes Peresztegi

Guest speaker: Konstantin Akinsha

-An assessment of the overall damage inflicted on cultural assets—people, objects, structures—which includes what was lost/destroyed/stolen.

-What was recovered, what was restituted, what is still missing.

-Overview of responsibility: Allies, perpetrators, victims, opportunists. How national and international law did or did not adapt to the postwar reality of cultural plunder and restitution.

-Case study focusing on the controversial activities of Ante Topic Mimara, within the general framework of postwar identification and recovery of art objects looted by the Axis powers during WWII

10h30-12h30: Archival research and case studies-Part I

Instructors: Willi Korte, Marc Masurovsky, Agnes Peresztegi

Guest speaker: Patricia Kennedy Grimsted

-Constructing a provenance research “due diligence” checklist

Due diligence, past and present; how does such research get organized? Can one create a generic checklist of mandatory steps to take in undertaking such research? Does such a checklist vary by type of misappropriated/displaced object? Do research methodologies vary depending on these objects, origin, location prior to displacement? If so, how?

-How do these methodologies apply to books and manuscripts?

-Case studies of forced sales (internal loot/plunder) and of cultural plunder in Nazi-occupied Hungary

12h30-13h30: Lunch

13h30-15h30: Provenance and the acquisition process in a museum

Instructor: Victoria Reed
